Scott's Flat Dedicated

GENERAL W. T. HANNUM SPEAKS AT OPENING RITES

NEVADA CITY: Scott's Flat Dam was dedicated Sunday afternoon by the Nevada Irrigation District. There were some 500 spectators at the ceremony. They came from all parts of Nevada and Placer Counties which the 26,300 acre feet of water behind the dam will serve.

At noon they spread their baskets of food on the tables under the deep shade of the forest. To the south they could see the deep blue of water already impounded behind the great earth-filled dam.

Due to the sudden illness of Forrest F. Varney, manager and chief engineer of the district, William Durbrow, who retired as manager last year after 18 years of service, acted as master of ceremonies.

First came the call to colors sounded by bugler Ike Harris, Jr., assistant scoutmaster of Troop 4. The color guard of Troop 15 raised the flag to the masthead. The board of directors of Nevada Irrigation district were introduced. They consist of Thomas Mulcahy, president, Harlan E. Wheeler, G. O. Griffith, Edgar E. Burnet, and J. A. Gleason.

Greetings of one minute each were extended by George Hallock, president of the California Hydraulic Mining Assn., State Senator Allen G. Thurman, Judge George L. Jones, Mayor Alison Simmons, of Grass Valley, Art Innis, City Councilman of Nevada City, speaking for Mayor Albert S. Bates who could not be present, Mrs. Audrey Montre, president of the Grass Valley Business and Professional Women, Louis Hartman, president of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce, Paul Bergemann, president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, Hugh Brown, secretary-manager of the Sierra Nevada Chamber of Commerce, speaking for its president, George C. Hansen, and Mrs. H. A. Sturtevant ,president of the Nevada County Girl Scout Council.

William Durbrow then gave a brief history of Scott's Flat Dam. He mentioned the old flume that formerly brought logs down from the big basin, now filled with water. The flume ended at Town Talk, between Nevada City and Grass Valley. Where it ended there were sawmills and a big planing mill. In those days Town Talk was a large and thriving community. He said that the first expenses of clearing the damsite was paid for out of the gold recovered by a dredger contractor. This amounted to $125,000, of which the irrigation district received 12½ percent. The buildings erected along the lake shore and at the dam were paid for by the lumber sold from Scott's Flat, so that clearing the damsite virtually cost the district nothing. C. W. A. labor was used in the clearing.

General Warren T. Hannum, director of the State Division of Natural resources, chief speaker of the day, said that development of hydraulic mining in the gold rush days was a preliminary to the state's present great systems of water control and distribution in irrigation, and manufacture of electrical energy. Nearly all the ditches of Argonaut days are again in use.

"In fact,' said General Hannum, "water is California's greatest resource, for upon it depend many of our most important industries, especially agriculture. Water is indeed our principle resource. In this district there are some 286,000 acres, of which 136,000 acres are susceptible to irrigation. But only 30,000 acres are actually under irrigation, so there is still room for a great expansion of irrigation in this district.

Each new unit of impounded water, said the speaker, is one more safe guard against drought, from which we have recently had fortunate escape.

C. F. Metteer of San Francisco, attorney for the district since its inception in 1921, unveiled the plaque on its monument of granite.

He said that he hoped the time would come when the monument would be fifty feet under water, because of a new addition to the dam, to impound a much greater water suppply. When it did come, he said, the district could undoubtedly afford a new monument and placard.

BATES RESIGNS AS MAYOR

NEVADA CITY: Mayor Albert S. Bates has tendered his resignation to the city council effective immediately. He has been promoted from his present post as manager of the Nevada City Pacific Gas and Electric Company to be district agent in the Lincoln office of the Company in Placer County.

A successor will be named by the city council soon. Usually the senior member on the board is made mayor, which in this case would be Arthur B. Innis.

San Francisco's second street survey was made in 1845 by Jasper O'Farrell.

DEER CREEK TROUT KILLED

NEVADA CITY: Game Warden Earl Hiscox reports that aproximately 10,000 trout have been poisoned by chlorine dumped inti Deer Creek from the municipal swimming pool in Pioneers Park.

Hiscox said that, after receiving reports from angry sportsmen of thousands of dead fish downstream from the confluence of Little Deer Creek and Deer Creek as far as Newtown, he made an investigation.

A city crew, cleaning up the municipal pool preparatory to its opening, according to Hiscox, had let the water run slowly over a deposit of chlorine which had flowed into Little Deer Creek in a concentrated solution.

The game warden said that fishing for this year will be ruined in Deer Creeek. He stated that 25,000 fish had been planted in the stream this year.

Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

CONCLUSION

(So we bid good-bye to Pard and Jackson, Marie and Hetty, Jack, the dog, and the donkey, to "ze good boys" of Rock and Brush Creeks. The days of placer mining, as depicted in the dieary, came to an end long ago, the glory of Selby Flat, that once "beat Nevada City in a Fourth of July celebration" has departed; even the patient Chinamen glean no more from the worked-out creeks, gulches and ravines. The romance and the sordid facts are but dim memories and the Argonauts have gone to seek the golden fleece in the land just beyond the sunset.

They were good old days and when Jackson forgot to put his diary in the saddle bags he left for posterity a record unique and invaluable. We have had a surfeit of stoic gambler, uncouth miner, draggle-tailed courtesans, and impossible school-mistresses. These were inventions touched, distorted and illuminated by Bret Harte's genius. The later-day writers who attempt to reproduce this early life with their sentimental pathos are as far away from the spirit of the "Fifties" as mush and molasses from "Lobster a la Newburg." While Jackson's narrative may not rank high as literature, he has given in his diary a faithful, accurate, and vivid picture, from the miner's point of view, of foothill mining life. As he was writing it for his own amusement and not for posterity, the weaving into it of his romance is to be pardoned. For myself, I confess that to me this has been one of its chief fascinations. Its great interest, however, is the details we glean of the everday life, of how much yellow dust the claim yielded, the growth of mining camps, the queer theories as to the genesis of gold, the incidents and happenings in town and country, the comedies and tragedies; these constitue history not to be found elsewhere. Yet, to note the gradual development and mental growth of this New England Puritan, the intrusion of "the eternal feminine," the hesitation and doubt, the surrender and final culmination of it at the point most novelists end the final chapter, the marriage altar, surely that was a romance of the foothills. However, all this had best be left to the reader. I trust that he has been as much entertained in following Jackson's fortunes as I in deciphering and transcribing them from the blotted pages and faded ink of his old diary.

4th Gets Under Way!

NEVADA CITY: At an enthusiastic meeting Friday night in the City Hall, members of the Chamber of Commerce pitched in and volunteered their services for making the Fourth of July celebration the best yet. The meeting was called by the President and Board of Dirictors, who were discouraged by lack of interest so far shown by the public in Fourth preparations.

About 75 citizens attended the meeting, each anxious to do his part in various phases of Fourth activity. The chamber room was so crowded that a handful of members had to stand.

Al Irby, Fourth chairman, was absent, and his place was taken by assistant chairman Mrs. Harold Deeter.

She outlined general plans for the Fourth, which will include: the queen contest, street dancing, folk dancing, band concert, games on Saturday, July 3, Memorial Church Service, a baseball game, aquacade, and hoe-down dance on Sunday, the Grand Parade, the traditional fire department water fight, a kids-wagon race, final athletic contests, on Monday.

Any profits from the Fourth celebration, after expenses are paid, will go to the Girl Scouts.

Word of many organizaions planning to enter a queen in the contest was announced at the meeting:

Among them are the Elks, the Lions, the National Guard, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Tavern Owner's Association and the Sheriff's Posse.

Secretary Harry F. Sofge announced that arrangements for completely decorating the town with flags at a cost of $235 had been completed. Ted Sigourney announced that the fire department had available suitable benches for the use of aged people and mother's with children during the parade.

A dance and crazy auction will be held Saturday night, June 19th at Seaman's Lodge in Pioneers Park, under the auspices of the Deer Creek Dry Diggins Association. A street dance is planned for Saturday night, June 26.

Mrs. Doris Foley, preseident of the Historical Society, announced that the museum would be open during every day of the celebration.

Jack Mundt, speaking for the Sheriff's Posse, announced that that organizaion would volunteer for any necessary police work and traffic direction.

Various other individuals and organizations volunteered services and materials before President Paul Bergemann concluded the meeting on a note of thanks for the intense, if somewhat belated, interest in the celebration on the part of the townspeole.

NEWS FROM THE RIDGE

BY ALICE HILL

June started off with a bang! Not with June weddings but with graduations. Our grammar school held its graduation exercises Thursday June 3 at Twamley Hall with a very impressive ceremony. The Processional, "There's a Long, Long Trail," was sung by the graduates and the Glee Club as they filed through the hall to the stage, which was decorated very attractively with golden broom brush, white and yellow crepe paper by Mrs. Addleman and Mrs. McNeer. The Board of Education M,rs. Beulah Haman, Mrs. Loretta Jones and Mrs. D. A. Buckbee and Mrs. Martha Ellsworth, President of the P. T. A. sat on the right side of the stage and the honorary guests on the left which included Walter A. Carlson, County Superintendent of Schools, Rev. Turner of Grass Valley and Rev. Gabrielli of North San Juan. The three graduates, Miss Kathleen McQuinn, Billy Phillips and Chester Ennis sat in the center of the stage backed by the glee club of the North San Juan Grammar School. The program followed after the opening prayer by Rev. Turner; address, Walter Carlson; Salutory Address, William Phillips; "Sweet and Low" and "Santa Lucia," N.S.J. glee club; iano solo, Marian Kemp; valedictory, Kathleen McQuinn; "Now the Day is Over," glee club; awarding the diplomas, Superintendent Carlson; benediction, Rev. Gabrielli.

The recessional, "Now is the Hour," was sung by the graduates and glee club as they filed off the stage. Congratulations to the graduates for their fine speeches about the early history of our town and vicinity. The community is very appreciative of P. J. Conway and J. D. Conway for their fine teaching and the extra work involved in producing several plays and programs by the students during the year.

Congratulations to Bud Rhoades of North San Juan and Arnold Sauer of Sweetland who have graduated from the Nevada City High School.

June fourth—a howling mob of youngsters, plus a dozen PTA'ers and the teachers trooped down to the Oregon Creek Camp grounds for the school picnic. Baseball was enthusiastically entered into and only the dinner call ceased the game. Eighteen pounds of hot dogs were consumed before you could say "North San Juan Grammar School Picnic." Plenty of potato salad, pickles, potato chips and cookies and punch disappeared, topped off with ice cream sundaes. The PTA sponsored the picnic and the teachers furnished the ice cream. It started to sprinkle as we were finishing the ice cream, but the ball game continued until 3:30, when we all returned to town. The kids were of one mind—vacation time is wonderful, but so are school picnics.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Slankard have returned to their home here with their daughter Alberta, and sons, who will stay here for the summer. Alberta has been very seriously ill and is recovering slowly.

June 2. The Chamber of Commerce of North San Juan, Camptonville and Vicinity held its annual meeting at Twamley Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bryan and family have returned from a trip to Greenville.

Vsitors of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Colman is their daughter, June Cook and her husband and stepson, of San Francisco.

CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE SEEKS $4700 FROM BOARD SUPERVISORS

NEVADA CITY: The Nevada County Centennal Committee headed by Elmer Stevens is submitting a budget to the Board of Supervisors for $4700 for the fiscal year 1948-49 on the basis of two applications received. The first was from the Nevada County Historical Society requesting $3900 to be spent for historical markers; maintenance of the Nevada County Museum in Nevada City, work on the North Juan Museum, work at Rough and Ready, publications, and restoration of the old Chinese Joss House at the Memorial Park in Grass Valley. In each of these cases the committee feels that it can apply for State matching moneys from the State Centennial Commission. The local committee acts as a "screening" group for Centennial funds to the state and for the county.

The second application was from the Sierra-Nevada County Chamber of Commerce and Nevada City Chamber for construction of "Caldwell's Upper Store" in Nevada City, amount $800. This would serve as a Centennial headquarters during 1948-49 and 50 where a large map would be displayed, literature handed out and general information dispensed for the tourists.

The County Committee acting on state advice has presented the state aid program in the local press and invited local groups to participate by letters of invitation. "While it may not seem as very much to some," states Stevens," We believe it a step in the right direction and each of the projects have value; there will be definite value in each of them. We would rather commit ourselves to projects of this type rather than "whiskers contests," and "queen contests." The markers and the museums we shall have for years to come."

The Board of Supervisors will either act or reject these applications on June 1st when they meet. On the basis of them, local Centennial Celebrations and observance will depend. No further meetings will be held until the Board acts.

The Committee feels it has done everything it could under the circumstances it was set up, and now is the time to plan and make application for the state money and the county funds. not after these Centennial Years are over."

The County Committee acting as a "screening group' does not project plans or promote them but acts for the county in coordinating. Some may confuse the issue. This does not preclude local organizations from holding celebrations on their own using the Centennial theme. It is hoped that the Nevada City Fourth of July Celebration will observe the theme, as the Committee is endeavoring to obtain the newly constructed Centennial float for the parade, 1949 and 1950 should be bigger years, but a start must be made this year.

To the tourists, markers, maps, literature and particularly the museums will hold a big attraction the committee believes.

Members of the committee are: Elmer Stevens, Guerdon Ellis, W. W. Esterley, Al Irbey, Downey Clinch, Earl Covey, Wes Donnenwirth, Herb Nile, George Hallock, Ralph Deeble and Fred Brady, Secretary.

Plans and communication should be sent to Fred Brady, Secretary Chamber of Commerce, Grass Valley.

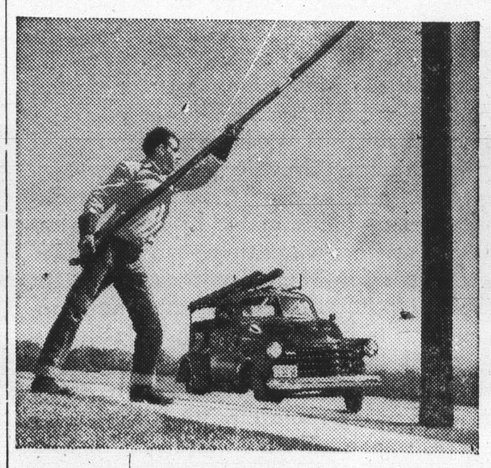
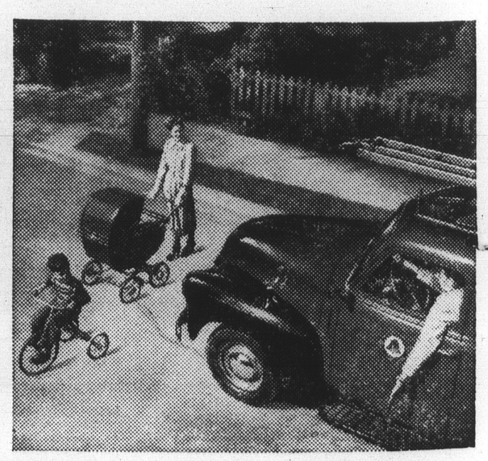
THE SAFEST PLACE TO WORK

How busy telephone people kept accident rate low in communications industry

1. "Learn it the safe way," instructors tell new telephone men. This man is learning to use a screwdriver so the point can't hit any part of his body. Every detail is important in building a safety record that is tops in the National Safety Council's 1947 study.



2. The pike-pole test makes sure the pole is safe to climb—before a man goes up. In 1947 rules like this made ours the safest of all Council industries with 3.33 disabling injuries per million man-hours. That's five times better than average. Pacific Telephone's score of 2.76 was better still.



3. On the road...as on the job... safety for others and for themselves comes first with Pacific Telephone people. All work with their famed safety motto in mind: "No job is so important and no service is so urgent that we cannot take time to perform our work safely."

Telephone jobs must be good jobs to attract the capable people needed to furnish good service. Good pay, steady work and an employee benefit plan give a strong sense of security. Comfortable surroundings, vacations and friendly fellow workers help make work pleasant.

Just Wonderin'

I wonder what the scientists
Will learn on lofty Palomar,
When through the giant telescope
They scan the boundless realms afar.

The mighty telescope which has been years in the making, has at length been put in place on the crest of a California mountain and is now ready to pierce the illimitable realms of space. The astronomical figures used in describing this great far seeing eye, almost stagger the imigination; the long years of patient toil consumed in its construction, its size and weight, the tasks of moving it safely from one place to another, and finally of conveying it up the mountain over a road, especially made for the purpose, putting it in place and adjusting the machinery which despite its enormous size and weight, moves it with a perfection of ease. Above, the number of light years through which it will permit man to peer and see the heavenly orbs as yet unknown.

It is a far cry from the tiny telescope of Galilleo to the monster instrument on Palomar, truly in the words of that ancient savant, "the world moves." As in the world of science, so man's open mindedness has increased slowly but surely through the years, superstition and religious intolerance have ceased to thwart the adventurous spirits of those who seek the truth about themselves and the universe in which they live. Knowledge is in a great degree unhampered, the human mind may roam at will.

What will astronomers now learn about this universe which is our home? Is it indeed limitless, or will they find a region of nothingness way out there, is there an iron curtain or an encircling wall that will say, "thus far and no farther shalt thou go?" Will they find aside from other solar systems probably of far greater magnitude than our own, orbs which like the earth are inhabited? Will they finally come to see the earth in its true relationship to the mighty orbs of heaven and look upon it as a mere speck of dust, turning smugly in its little orbit and knowing little of its own internal disorders or the fury which another planet might dash over it and leave no single trace of it behind?

We shall all be waiting for reports from the astronomers of Palomar and those reports will no doubt leave us breathless. What do we hope, what do we fear? What new knowledge shall we gain, what old ideas shall we be constrained to discard?

As for me, I'm truly concerned. For many a year, I have avoided the purchasing of a horoscope by declaring to horoscopic friends, that I wasn't born under any star, but instead, under the empty place in the north. That fiction seemed to explain so many things; some of the horoscope venders looked at me with pity in their eyes and silently went their way; but now, what if that big glass eye on Palomar unveils stars in that empty place---many stars perhaps, big and imposing ones? Then I shall be obliged to pick for myself a red, blue or yellow star and invest in a horoscope.

I'm wishing every sort of good luck to the great new telescope; no matter what it does to my little fund of knowledge and my smug preconceived ideas of time and space, may it look far and wide and may those who man it, pluck many a golden apple of knowledege from the tree of wisdom, whose branches have yielded so much fruitage since man began to grow and use a brain.

STEALS MINE'S IRON WALLS!

NEVADA CITY: Victor Service, accused of stealing the cast iron walls of a mine building, pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace George Gildersleeve Wednesday. He was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and fined $60.

The owner of the building, Leo Angelino, was the complaining witness.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE DISMISSED, LACK OF EVIDENCE

NEVADA CITY: The charge of negligent manslaughter against Harry M. Hodson was dismissed at noon Thursday by Justice of the Peace George Gildersleeve. A charge of drunk driving was also dismissed.

Hodson was arrested and placed under $1,000 bail May 15th, following an accident on the Bear Valley grade, when his car went over the bank and was stopped by a tree which killed his passenger Jerry Choat, a woman who had several other aliases.

Frank G. Finnegan, attorney for the defense, put on no witnesses. He read the law which provides no penalty for running off the road accidentally even if a passenger is hurt or killed.

Highway Patrolman George Hammill testified that when he arrived the driver, Hodson, was not there, and the woman had died apparently a few minutes before he arrived. Under cross examination he testified that several persons had been killed or injured on the Bear Valley grade. A highway patrolman from Placer County brought Hodson to the scene, Hammill testified, before he left.

Two witnesses testified they smelled liquor on the defendant's breath, but no tests were made. Hammill said Hodson told him he had a drink at the Seven Mile House out of Marysville, but that he did not stop in Grass Valley or Nevada City.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS CHART WORK FOR DEMOCRACY

BOSTON, Mass., June 7—Declaring that democratic government is the instrument through which an irresistible, spiritual force is being channeled into the affairs of men, The Christian Science Board of Directors today urged Christian Scientists, in annual meeting, here, to work strongly and actively for the defense of free governments throughout the world.

Rightly conceived, the Directors told the Annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, democratic government is something more than an aggregation of legislative acts and legalized rules of conduct.

"It is the orderly unfoldment of the moral character and spiritual integrity of its citizens," the spokesmen for the worldwide Christian Science movement affirmed. As such, they said, free government rightly merits active defense of its sacred purpose, in addition to the pious declarations of allegiance to its outer form.

Thousands of Christian Scientists from many parts of the world heard the Directors issue a distinct challenge to the proud, boastful "Goliaths of today, as they go to and fro in the earth. Denying God, they are denying their own life, for God is the only life of man," they stated.

In free governments, now seriously endangered by the modern Goliaths, the Directors commented, there is a force that gathers its strength from "the same eternal truth given by Christ Jesus in his peerless Sermon on the Mount." Ultimately it shall be seen, they said, that "no individual or nation on earth can withstand the power and presence of God and His Christ."

The Directors' statement highlighted a series of papers and reports made to the Annual Meeting. Set against the background of the great Mother Church dome and the Church park resplendent with mid-Spring blooms, the reports stressed the renaissance of religious activities throughout the postwar world, and re-emphasized the privileges of free assembly and freedom of worship as the human symbols of "spiritual freedom."

With the warnings of serious dangers to democratic government, the Directors also gave assurance that the antagonists of free government, like the Goliaths of old, were merely "inviting their own doom."

The fire which followed the 1906 San Francisco earthquake destroyed 497 city blocks in the heart of the city.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Live Longer

Someone asked Pappy Miller last week how he stayed so spry at ninety. Pappy told him:

"Well, sir—when I work, I work hard. When I set, I set loose. When I think, I go to sleep."

According to Doc Hollister, that formula isn't far amiss. "Hard work," says Doc, "never wore out anyone before his time, providing he knew how and when to relax."

Doc himself works overtime, with his daytime patients at the office, and his evening calls. And when he gets home he takes it easy with a mellow glass of beer and chats with the missus until it's time to go to bed.

From where I sit, relaxing is a fine art—especially in these tense, fast-moving times. And there's nothing like a temperate glass of beer—enjoyed with pleasant company—to restore that easy frame of mind that one needs after a hard day's work.

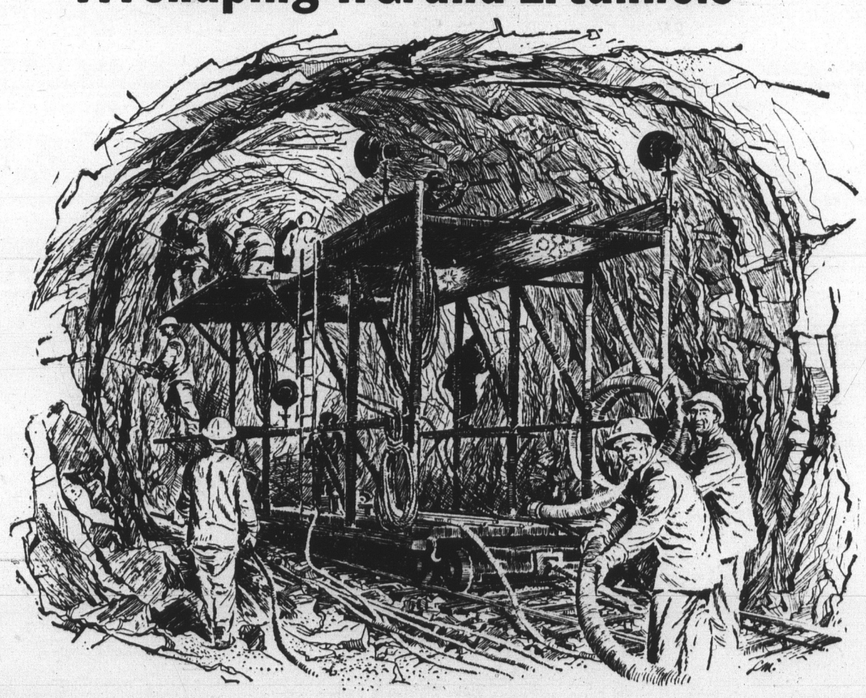
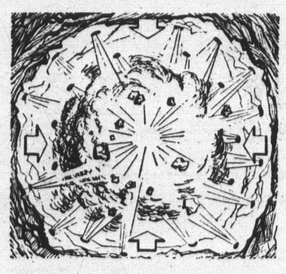
How skilled miners make dynamite behave
...shaping P.G. and E. tunnels

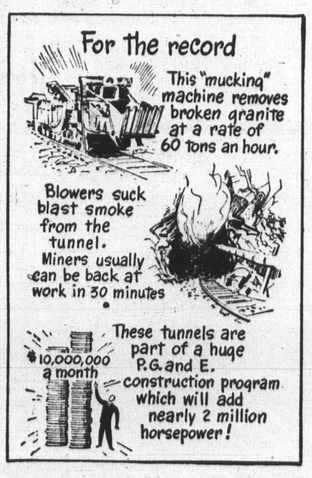


Have you ever wondered how engineers can blast tunnels through granite with almost pin-point accuracy? Here briefly, is how it's being done in two new P. G. and E. tunnels on the Feather River which soon will help turn out 270,000 new electrical horsepower. With a drilling platform, called a Jumbo, miners drill a special pattern of holes, 12 ft. deep, into which charges of dynamite are packed. Drilling usually takes 4 hours, preparing charges another ½ hour... then they're ready to blast.

Here's a diagram of a typical pattern. Experienced engineers can predict almost exactly what will happen. All the dynamite does not explode at once. Actually, there are 10 separate explosions in a fraction of a second.



The first blast removes the core... the others shape the sides, top and bottom. It's exciting work, going full speed ahead as P. G. and E. rushes America's biggest power-building program... to meet California's needs.



For the record
This "mucking" machine removes broken granite at a rate of 60 tons an hour.
Blowers suck blast smoke from the tunnel. Miners usually can be back at work in 30 minutes
10,000,000 a month
These tunnels are part of a huge P.G. and E. construction program which will add nearly 2 million horsepower!
